JOURNAL OF Perspectives in Applied Academic Practice

https://jpaap.ac.uk

This poster celebrates ten years of JPAAP, a journal established as a vehicle to support novice authors publish pedagogic research. The journal, launched in 2013 as a collective endeavour between Aston, Auckland, Dundee and Edinburgh Napier universities, has become embedded within the sector, attracting established authors to publish, widening the scope of the journal, and attracting new audiences, and potential new authors.

Journal Ethos

"to harness the potential of open publishing to capture and disseminate some of the excellent educational work we could see colleagues in our own institutions undertaking, but which was rarely being written up for potential publication." JPAAP Editorial, Vol1, Issue 1, 2013

Ten Year Updates

- Journal moved to a new server with a new URL, the look and feel was updated, and was relaunched in 2023
- Two special issues are currently being planned 10th Anniversary and Tertiary Sector

A decade of paper titles

Is this journal for you?

- If you are curious about publishing your pedagogic research and want a friendly, supportive journal
- If you are an experienced writer who wants to share their expertise
- If you are looking to develop your writing and reviewing skills

We offer:

- Support for novice authors
- Support for novice reviewers
- Special issues, covering current topics

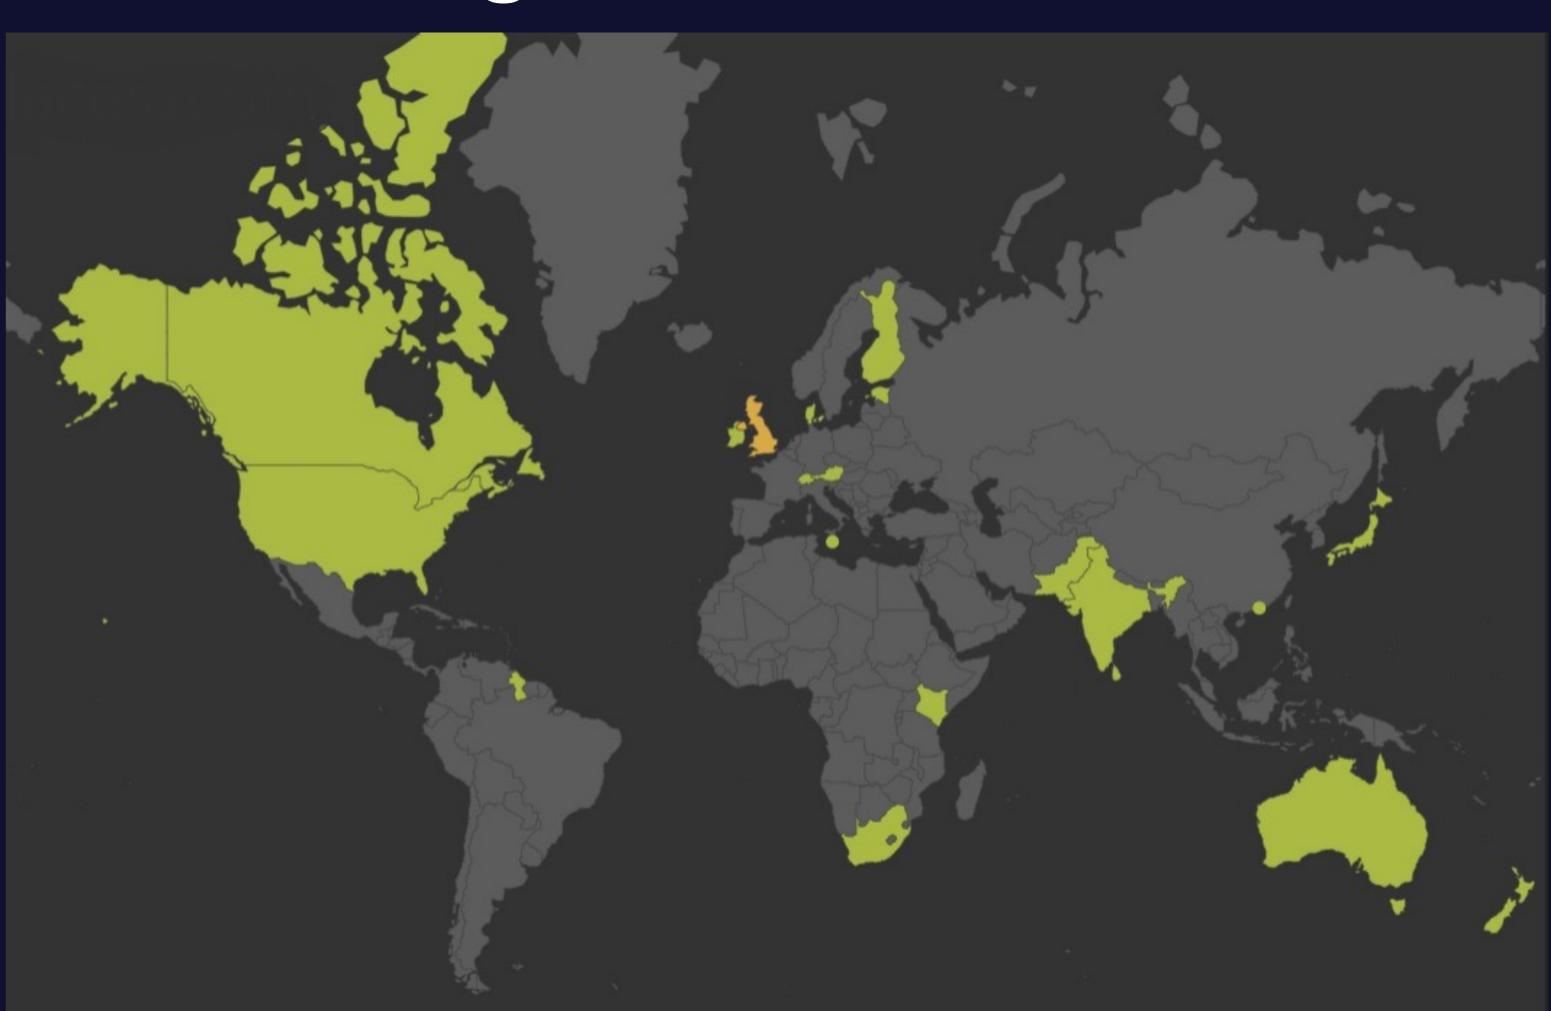

We particularly welcome international submissions and reviewers as the journal continues to grow.

Contact us through the journal website

The Editorial Board would like to thank the authors and reviewers, whose contribution to JPAAP has kept it flourishing and evolving for the past ten years.

Facts and figures

Editorial board
Brighton
Dundee
Edinburgh Napier
Glasgow
Heriot-Watt
UCL

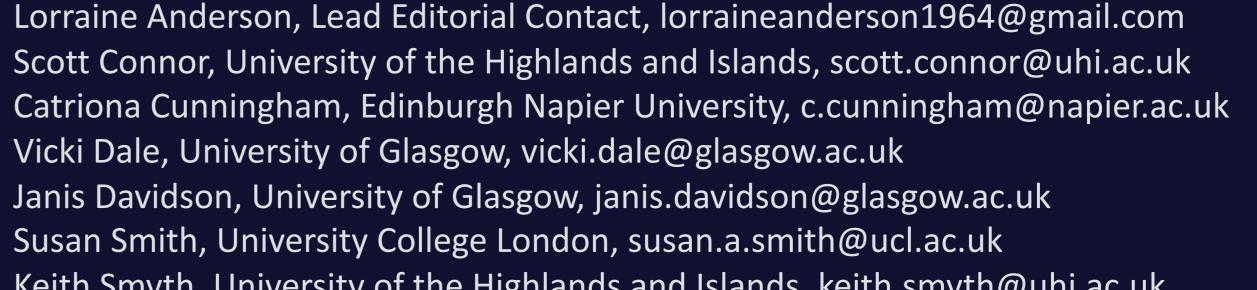

Top Three Countries (papers)

United Kingdom 308

New Zealand 12

In ten years:
11 volumes
25 issues
6 special issues
378 papers
20 countries
165 universities
317 authors
78 reviewers

Keith Smyth, University of the Highlands and Islands, keith.smyth@uhi.ac.uk
Anne Tierney, Heriot-Watt University, a.tierney@hw.ac.uk
David Walker, University of Brighton, d.j.walker@brighton.ac.uk